I wanted to call and say how disappointed I was that the Sunday, July 11-17 issue on page A-4 and A-5 didn't have ink. Hopefully we can get more ink on your paper, which I so much enjoy.

You guys are great, but this week we can hardly read you.

After pit bull attack, city council should ban dangerous dogs

Whose two-year-old daughter will be the next pit bull attack victim?

Unless the city council takes action to keep pit bulls away from children, another child probably will be attacked and mauled like the little Taylor girl was last month.

That girl's face and forehead were so badly bitten that it took 35 stitches to close the wounds and plastic surgery to repair the damage.

Before another innocent child is mauled or even killed, the city council better ban pit bulls, rottweilers, and other dangerous breeds.

Who parked Budweiser truck near Central City playscape?

For the person who wanted to know who was responsible for putting the Budweiser truck near the playscape in Central City Park, I think that it was the Budweiser truck driver. Duh!

Is election to political office harmful to winners' waistlines?

I've seen John Engler, I've seen L. Brooks Patterson, I've seen Ed McNamara and I've seen Robert Thomas. Now I know the meaning of the term "political fat cats."

Who will take responsibility for Wayne-Westland MEAP scores?

Once again Wayne-Westland students' MEAP scores trailed the state average in every single subject.

And once again, the district's administrators and school board members have led the state in dodging responsibility.

Key 'deepwell' hearing tonight

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Knowing that time is running out for citizen efforts to derail the pending environmental deepwell project in Romulus, State Rep. Raymond Basham (D-Taylor) is urging a large turnout tonight at 7 o'clock at Romulus High School.

"We've got less than a year to convince the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) that there is limited or no need for such a hazardous liquid well in southeast Michigan," Basham said last week.

Basham said that he plans tonight to release letters from former potential well users (about 10 years ago), stating that they today have no need or interest in using the hazardous well planned for Citrin Drive.

The deepwell would be the first commercial hazardous waste disposal well in Michigan.

Basham also hopes that Taylor Mayor Gregory Pitoniak or a high official in the Pitoniak administration attends the DEQ meeting and speaks out strongly against it.

Pitoniak opposed the well project while serving as state representative, prior to becoming Taylor mayor. Since the site of the potential well was switched from Wahrman Road to Citrin Drive in Romulus, the city of Taylor has taken a higher priority opposition role in the matter.

Romulus Mayor William Oakley said Monday night he would be out of town tonight and would leave Councilwoman Debbie Romak to speak out in opposition to the well on behalf of the city of Romulus.

Romak -- one of the founders of RECAP (an anti-well citizens group) -- has been a vocal opponent of the EDS project for many years.

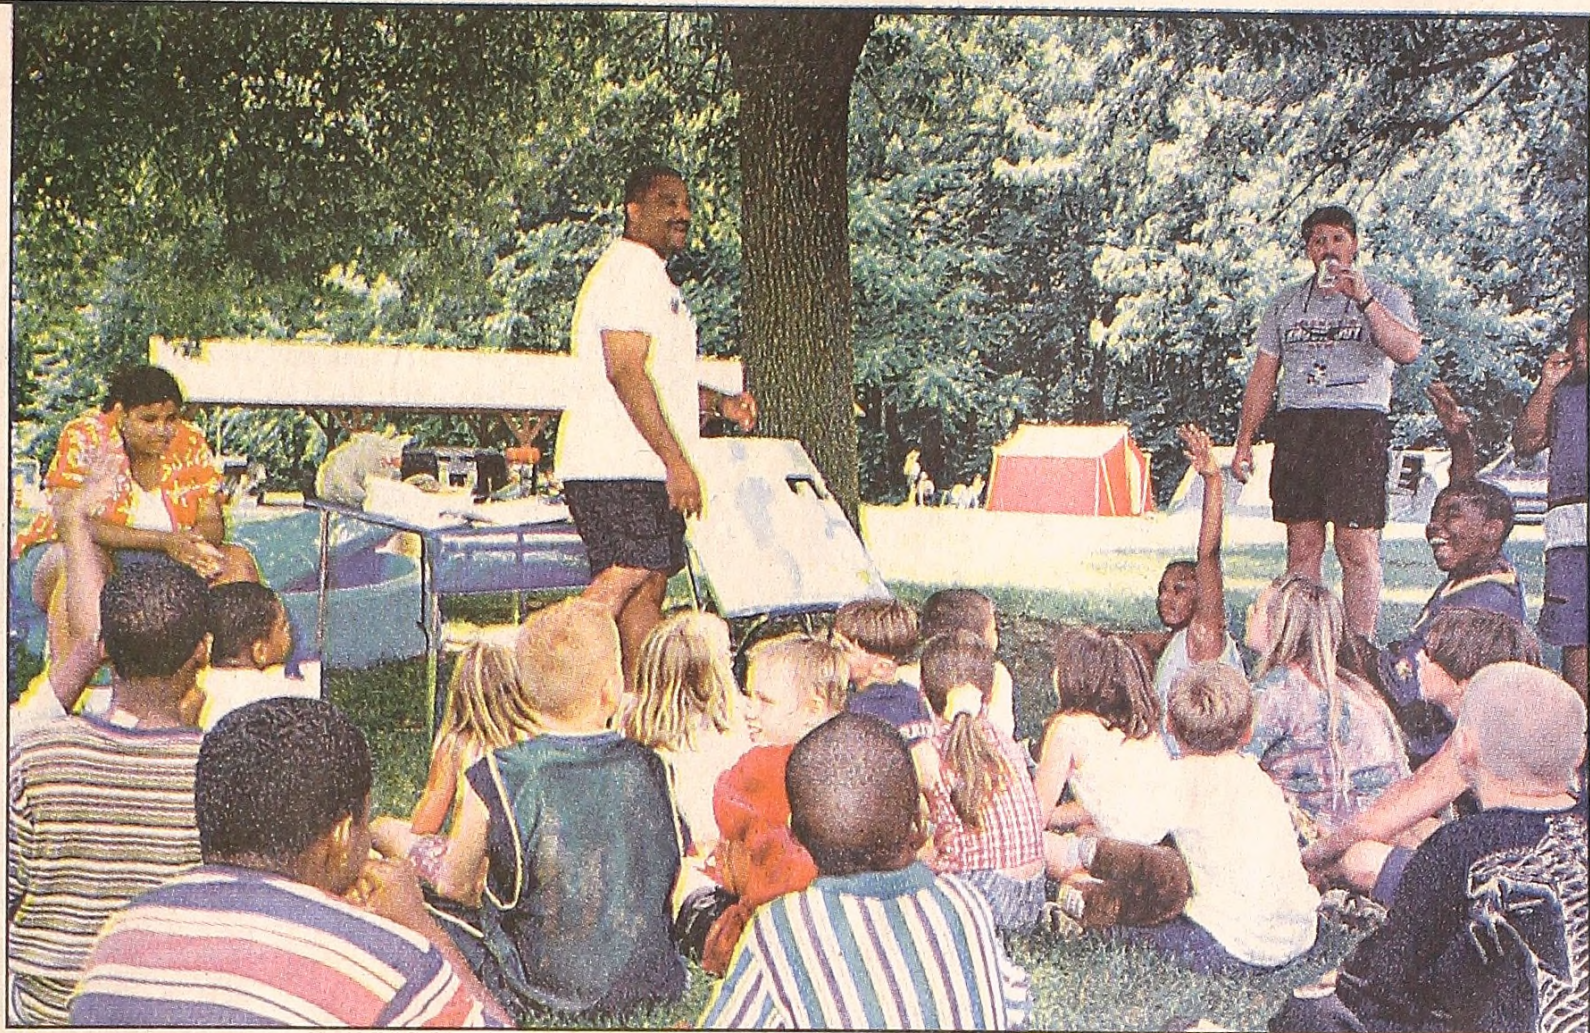

Basham realizes that the only hope that citizens of Romulus and Taylor have of nixing the well plans of Environmental Disposal Systems is convincing Gov. John Engler and DEQ Director Russ Harding that the majority of the public are opposed to the opening of the well.

"I have found no one turning out at our task force hearings supporting the well project," Basham said, "except those who will profit from their operations."

The state task force -- headed by Basham -- has held public hearings, in Taylor, Detroit and Livonia.

Thus it is important that the public continue to write to Engler at the State Capitol, P.O. Box 30013, Lansing, MI. 48909, Basham urges.

He also lists the address of Harding as P.O. Box 30473, Lansing, MI. 48909-7973.

Kids, police find lots in common

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Romulus Community Police Officers and area students involved in the "KIDStock 99" program this summer are already finding out they have a lot in common.

They kicked off their mutual outdoor relationships on June 26, as more than 80 police officers, other adults and youth got involved in a wide array of programs.

At 9 a.m. the students and their parents arrived at Elmer Johnson Park and found that Boy Scout Troop No. 872 of Romulus had already helped in erecting a huge 52' by 20' military tent donated for the weekend by the Michigan National Guard.

The youth also were allowed to take part in a massive water balloon event.

A police officer escorted them to their sleeping area, gave them a tour of the facilities and allowed them to select their own cots.

After stowing away their gear, the students were directed to the park pavilion, where they enjoyed a hearty breakfast once again with the generous help of the local scouts.

The weekend scout project allowed the police officers and Romulus High School student role models and volunteers to interact even more than expected.

Following the breakfast, the youth were given a special orientation assisted by Mayor William Oakley and Police Chief Charles Kirby.

Shortly before 10 a.m. the students' parents and guardians left the park for the day, allowing the youth to review the rules and guidelines set up for the weekend.

Minutes later a police alarm was sounded and everyone assembled for a first aid presentation offered by a para-med from the Community Emergency Medical Services unit.

Early in the afternoon, Community Police Officer Michael Jones distributed State of Michigan activity books to the youth.

He then offered a unique history and geography presentation on the state of Michigan including making them aware of the state bird, fish, flower, tree, rock, gems, reptile, etc.

At 1:30 p.m. once again the Boy Scouts were major helpers in a lunch time experience that included such menu items as cold meats, cheeses, assorted breads, fruit and milk.

At 2:30 p.m. the Romulus Fire Department conducted a fire safety lecture including personal and home safety techniques.

A large Romulus Fire Apparatus was on the scene for inspection by the youth. Later a hose was attached to a hydrant and the students -- impacted by the day's heat and humidity -- were allowed to cool off under a heavy water spray.

The youth also were allowed to take part in a massive water balloon event. First they launched the early portion of the 600 balloons some impressive distances.

Then the balloons almost landed on some strategically placed police officers, bringing out rounds of laughter.

The series of water events ended with a major free for all event as the youth had fun targeting each other and an occasional police officer or student mentor.

Additional photos and events will be listed in next week's edition of the Romulus Roman.

Romulus voters to face 4 issues in September

Following a vote by the Romulus City Council on July 6, local voters will be given a chance to vote on four ballot proposals on Sept. 20.

Proposal A would be on a one mill hike in taxes for up to 20 years to support "the constructing, furnishing, equipping and operating of a new recreation center."

Another question on the Sept. 20 ballot would concern the school district's $34 million plans to erect a new elementary school, pool and updated tech center at the high school and additions to all other district schools.

Two remaining ballot issues would pertain to renewing the school district's operating millage and extending the Detroit Edison franchise ordinance another 30 years.

All four questions will be outlined for the public in coming months.

Romulus district hits 'Zero' mark

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

The Romulus District of the Wayne County Family Independence Agency celebrated its reaching the "Zero" mark, the first in Wayne County to reach that designation in the Project Zero effort.

The ceremony conducted at the Wayne Community Center on Howe Road in Wayne included local public officials, state legislators, and FIA Director Douglas E. Howard as well as some former local welfare clients.

Reaching the zero mark means that "all cash assistance cases expected to work and have income were doing so on June 22," Gov. John Engler revealed last week.

Romulus is one of 11 districts in Wayne County and 24 throughout the rest of the state to take part in "Project Zero."

To date 15 counties have hit zero, Engler said, something no other state can say.

"Thanks to the efforts of Romulus District Manager Allah Shamoan and his staff, Wayne County FIA director Jerome Rutland and Project Zero partners, all families in the district who were expected to work to secure earnings are now doing so," Howard said.

Rats threaten neighborhood with swamp fever Sound Off

By IVAN HELFMAN
MCN Staff Writer

Westland rats are here to stay.

"We can never get rid of rats," said Larry Williams of the Wayne County Health Department. "All we can do is get them down to workable number."

Rats have become a concern in Michigan because the vermin have multiplied during recent mild winters, infesting areas where food and habitat are available.

Rats have been spotted on Hively, Somerset, and Steinhauer streets during the last eight months.

"Rats are running around our neighborhood," said Carol Block, a Hively street homeowner. "They are dangerous to children and animals and are destructive -- they're chewing up our property."

Williams confirmed that rats pose a health threat.

"Whenever there's an overpopulation of rats, we have to be concerned about diseases," he said.

Williams said that rats burrowing in mud puddles pick up various strains of Leptospira bacteria, which cause leptospirosis, an infectious disease of domestic animals, especially cattle, swine, and dogs, characterized by jaundice and fever.

Commonly known as "swamp fever," leptospirosis is dangerous if not diagnosed and treated during its first week. Historically, only one death from leptospirosis has been reported in Wayne County.

Rats spread the bacteria through their urine and it enters humans through eyes, mouths, and open cuts.

"Rats are urinating and defecating wherever they go," said Williams.

Because of the complaints, Westland Deputy Mayor George Gillies and Police Emery Price sent an animal control officer and ordinance violation officers to the neighborhood last weekend.

"We are making an effort to correct the situation," said Price, who had one of Westland's animal control officers trained in rat control by the county health department in May.

Though city workers are ticketing area residents with junk cars, rubbish, weeds and other rat habitat in their yards, Williams said that probably won't be enough.

Gardeners, people with backyard bird feeders, and dog owners will also have to alter their behavior.

"Many people don't understand that pets, especially large dogs, contribute to the rat population," Williams said. "Rats eat dog food left outside and, when all other food has been eliminated, rats will survive on nutrient-rich dog droppings."

Rats often nest beneath dog houses and warm themselves with heat generated by dogs' bodies, Williams said.

Since most dog owners usually don't associate rat problems with their pets, some are reluctant to take corrective steps, Williams said. Same with gardeners whose plants provide rats with food and habitat, people with bird feeders that provide food, and people who put their garbage out in plastic bags loaded with food scraps.

"On a rat complaint, it's never just one thing that is responsible," he said. "Everyone wants to point the finger. Fortunately, sometimes people are good at fixing their messes."

To control the rat population, Williams said that the city must create an "integrated pest management plan" that combines several possible solutions. Besides removing rat habitat and food supplies, rats can be caught with snap traps baited with peanut butter and bacon grease.

If all else fails, rat poisons could be used, he said.

Incredibly, administrators have blamed the test for the many drops, such as the dive that fifth grade Edison Elementary students took on science, plunging from 71.1 to 11.3 percent in one year.

But when Edison fourth-grade students improved in reading, the test doesn't get the credit, the district's new curriculum and instructional programs do.

If administrators and school board members won't take responsibility for poor MEAP scores, who will?

Yankee Air Museum presents Mustang Round-Up

The vintage B-6 bomber will be just one of the highlights of the Mustang Round-Up this weekend at the Yankee Air Force Museum.

The Yankee Air Museum proudly presents its first annual Mustang Round-Up, which will bring together the area's flight heritage as well as its automotive history.

Features include: several P-51 Mustangs, more than 50 classic Ford Mustangs, the Heinkel HE-111 (the only one left flying in the world), and the B-17 Flying Fortress Sentimental Journey."

The event celebrates the 35th anniversary of the Ford Mustang and aircraft flight demonstrations will be held both Saturday and Sunday.

Saturday evening at 6 p.m., an aviation symposium will be held. The featured guest speakers are:

- Gunther Rall, the world's highest-scoring surviving ace of World War II.
- Bud Anderson, P-51 pilot.

The weekend-long event will be from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday.

• Robert Morgan, the pilot of the B-17 "Memphis Belle." Tickets for the aviation symposium are $35.

The weekend-long event will be from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday. The Yankee Air Museum is located at the Willow Run Airport in Belleville. Tickets are $4 for adults and $3 for children and seniors. For more information call (734) 483-4030.

Foreign students seek hosts

Once in a while, an opportunity comes along that lets us make a real difference in someone else's life, and a student exchange program is offering local families a chance to do just that.

ASSE International student exchange programs is currently seeking local families interested in hosting a high school foreign exchange student for the 1999/2000 school year. The students are between 15 and 18 years old, are well screened and speak English. Each student is very anxious to learn about our country by living as part of an American family and attending the local high school.

Local ASSE representative Deb Richards, who has herself hosted exchange students says it's not only a chance to make a difference in the student's life, but also in your own family. She said her own young children enjoyed hosting foreign students and developed a sudden interest in world events and became glued to the television set when the nightly news would begin.

Students come from the Scandinavian countries, Germany, Italy, France, Brazil, Thailand, Australia, New Zealand, Poland, Japan, the Czech and Slovak republics and the former Soviet Union.

The students are carefully screened in their home countries. Interested families have the opportunity to select the student of their choice from extensive student applications, family photos and biographical essays. The students arrive from their home country shortly before school begins and return at the end of the school year. Each ASSE exchange student is fully insured, brings his or her personal spending money, and shares in the household responsibilities.

Previous families have this to say about hosting a foreign exchange student: "The hardest thing was saying goodbye to Tomas. He had become like a son to us."

"We were nervous at first about hosting because we do not have children of our own, but Ilka loved being an only child and fit right in with us and our school."

"Johan was the big brother our daughters always dreamed of; he truly was a member of our family."

If you are interested in sharing in this wonderful opportunity as a host family, call local representative Deb Richards at (734) 699-3010 or (800) 736-1760 or visit the ASSE web site at www.asse.com.

Bureaucrats stonewall woman's quest to seek justice for dead fiance

Hilary Waite has spent every waking hour of the last three months looking for answers. She wants to know why her fiance, Cameron Cook was tragically killed, and she wants to know why the company she blames for Cameron's death, has not been brought to justice.

Cameron Cook, 25, of Ypsilanti was killed on April 1, when a pit he was digging for sewer leads caved in. The construction took place at a home site in Plymouth Township's County Acres subdivision. Cook was literally buried alive under a foot of dirt in a hole 12-feet deep. Three workers tried to dig him and another worker out. After twenty minutes the second worker was free, but Cook appeared lifeless.

The cause of death "was most likely from being crushed by weight of the dirt and clay, said Plymouth Township fire Capt. Randy Maycock. "The dirt wall that came tumbling down probably weighed between one and two thousand pounds. It was like being hit by a car."

Hilary had lived with Cook for nearly 5 years. His death tore her life apart. She moved to California, soon afterward, seeking solace from her parents. Her solace, soon, however, turned in to a campaign for justice. She was seeking manslaughter charges against any and all parties responsible. She sought answers from local government officials. And she has gotten nowhere - stonewalled at every stop.

"Not only have I not been helped, I have been ignored, patronized, given misinformation, and overall treated in a insensitive way by nearly everyone I have talked to in the process. In the case of the Plymouth Police, I would characterize their actions as cruel and unusual," writes Waite.

Here's a condensed version of the run-around Waite has experienced:

Called Plymouth police, talked to Sergeant Jarvis and he told me to talk to Sgt. Antal. Left message with Antal, which he never returned.

Called OSHA. They referred me to District Court in Plymouth.

Drove to courthouse. They referred me back to police department.

Had meeting with Jarvis, Antal and a third. They said only OSHA or BOCA could press charges, and that I should call them.

Called back OSHA. They said they were going to fine contractor, but it was up to the city to press criminal charges.

Called BOCA. They had no idea why police would refer to them. They never press criminal charges. They referred me back to District Court.

A call to District Court, only ended in another referral to the police department.

Another visit to the police station. Sgt. Jarvis claimed he vaguely remembered our conversation and then began to grill me about my love life. He wanted to know if Cameron and I were fighting the morning of his death. I broke down in tears because we were not. I couldn't understand what this had to do with me seeking answers. Finally he told he would turn the matter over to the prosecutor's office.

I followed up with Kevin Simonowski in the homicide division. He told me he had to obtain an unedited version of the OSHA report from the police before the matter could be pursued.

Expecting no cooperation from the police, I called OSHA in an attempt to get the information. Instead of giving me the information they smirked, and then hung up on me.

I called back for the supervisor. All I got was voice mail and no return call.

I have called OSHA a half dozen times since then, talking only to receptionists.

Maybe Waite's phone mannerisms leave something to be desired. Maybe her cause-seeking criminal action against the contractor is not worthy. But no one, and I emphasize NO ONE, should be treated by government employees, like she has been. This poor lady lost her future husband in a tragic accident that she thinks could have been prevented. She deserves a sensitive ear from every agency she talks to.

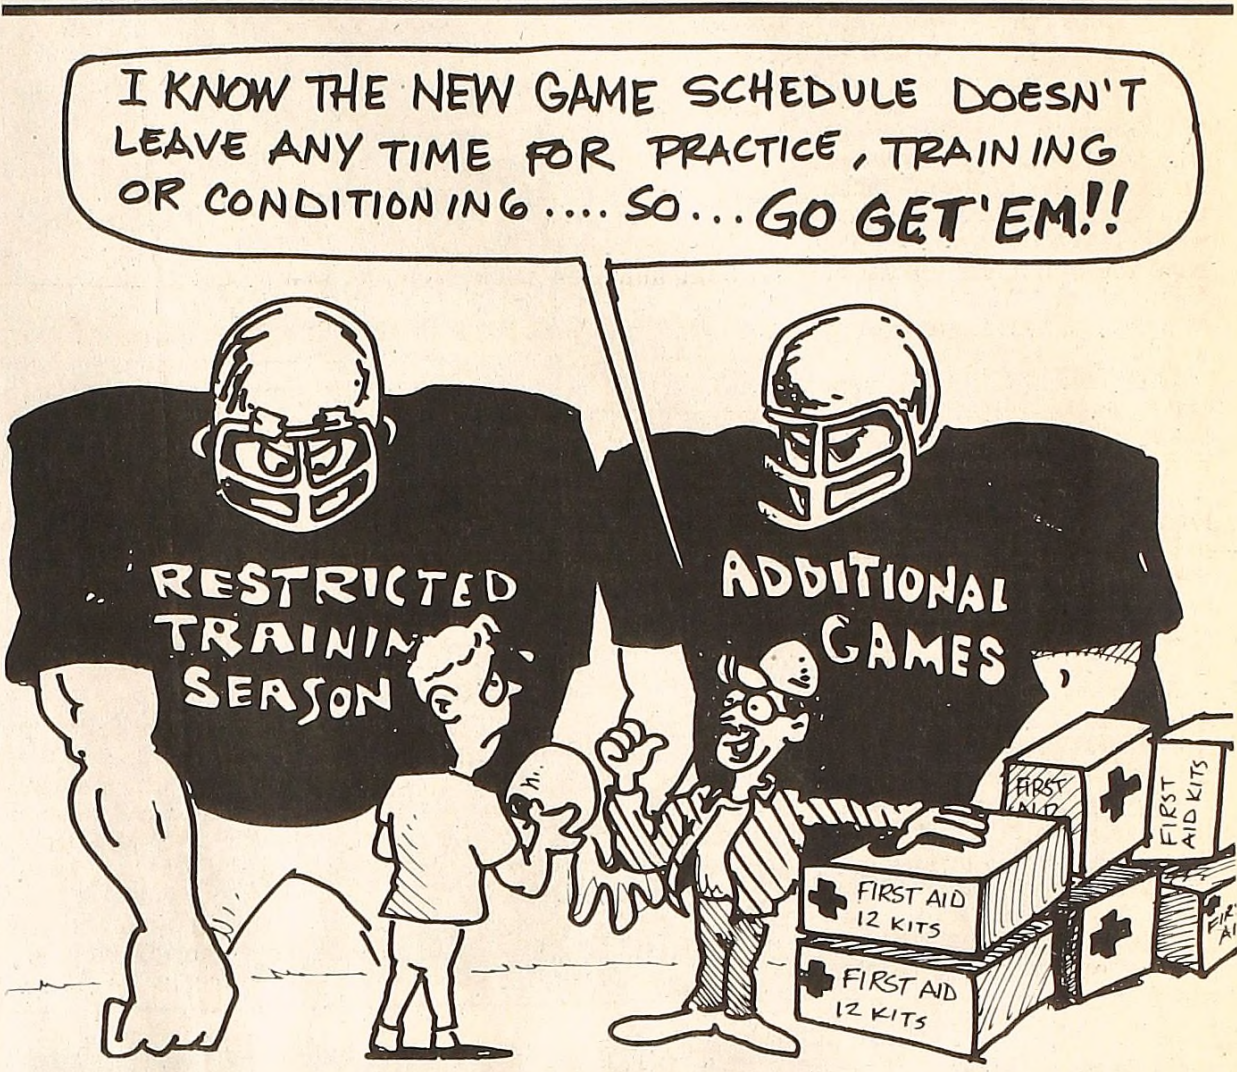

"What a mistake to think that I would actually be treated in a fair and just manner," concluded Waite. "Perhaps if Cameron had been the son of one of these government officials, things would be thoroughly and properly taken care of. The fact is, he was just one of the thousands of honest, hardworking individuals that make up the fabric of our country. It is a disgrace not only to his memory but also to all who have to be put through the "politics" of this ludicrous system we call justice."

Bitter words from a lady who has experienced a lot of injustice. Let's hope someone helps her get the answers she seeks.

Mike's musings

Mike Wilcox

Becoming a pinker pale face

Ever see a ghost?
I see one everyday when I look at my face.

I can't help that I was born a pale face, but I could have done something about it.

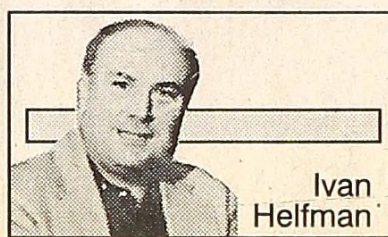

I could have gone outside in the sun like George Hamilton and sucked up the rays.

But I didn't because, like millions of Americans, I was brainwashed by the sun-safety nazis into believing that sun causes malignant melanoma.

Even though the sun-safety nazis ran an effective propaganda campaign, getting sunbathing warnings on TV and slipping into weather forecasts, I should have realized how nutty the sun fears were. After all, life couldn't have evolved on earth if the sun was dangerous.

As Daily Telegraph Science writer Matt Ridley observed, "We were bombarded with instructions to dress our children like mullahs and we obediently began to use more and more expensive sun block creams. Greens and health panickers, who normally run a mile from the products of the chemical industry, jumped aboard the bandwagon and bossed us all about the need to lather our skins in synthetic chemicals lest we should otherwise die of melanoma."

Finally, some doctors and scientists have had enough of this propaganda and are coming clean about this scam before people get hurt by sun blockers.

Already the first case of vitamin D deficiency in a white child resulting from the use of a strong sun block has been reported.

Three years ago, a medical journal reported that some types of sun cream might increase some types of skin cancer, though I haven't heard of any actual cases.

While the relative dangers of sun blockers are being discovered, the sun-melanoma myths are being exposed.

Turns out, there is no conclusive evidence linking malignant melanoma to sunbathing. Ridley points out that melanomas do not necessarily occur on exposed body parts, they are just as common in countries, such as Japan, where sunbathing is rare.

Melanomas are deadly. In contrast, the skin cancers that occur on skin exposed to the sun are easily treated.

Because of the paranoia, many people even consider the removal of harmless moles as skin cancer treatment. That sort of happened to me. I feared that the moles on my face had been malignant, so I had a dermatologist remove them, even though she assured me that they weren't carcinogenic.

So let me present Ridley's alternate advice about the sun:

"It is probably best to assume that bursts of sunburn do age the skin and may slightly increase the risk of melanoma. But melanoma is such a rare disease - 1,200 deaths a year - that it is only fair to weigh this slight risk against any benefits, something the spoilsports have never done.

"The latest article, by four professors and senior lecturers in Bristol, does this. They point out that there is lots of evidence that sunbathing is good for you. Sunbathing increases vitamin D levels, and higher vitamin D levels are associated with less rickets, less fragile bones, fewer heart attacks and possibly even fewer suicides (suicide is most common in early spring). Because these are much commoner than melanoma, the four cautiously call for a review of the evidence."

While I'm not qualified to review the evidence, I'm know a sun worshippers. I go for long walks in the sun without sun block every day. I feel healthier, less stressed, and, though still a pale face, I'm a pinker pale face.

Thanks a Million

WEEKLY SYNDICATED COLUMN BY PERCY ROSS

Millionaire Percy Ross is known for his philanthropic work. He offers help and encouragement for those in need. He has earned a fortune and a wealth of knowledge during his lifetime and wants to share both. His motto: "He who gives while he lives... also knows where it goes."

Birthing Children And Raising Them Are Two Separate Issues

Dear Mr. Ross: I'm a great believer that things happen for a reason. The fact that I'm raising my grandchildren (triplets, age 14 months) is no accident. My daughter and her husband found it more important to serve the Lord in foreign, war torn countries, than to be parents to these little darlings. I was deemed a suitable replacement for "mom and dad", so off they went. They also left me with only a stipend to compensate for the cost of diapers, food and all the hygienic necessities.

It's been 3 months since they left and I've had to struggle every week to meet the needs of the triplets. I'm a widow, age 56, and my disability check only goes so far. Thanks to my late husband I own my home, so at the very minimum we're guaranteed a roof over our heads.

I didn't write just to complain. I need your help. Truth be told, I need an additional $200 a month for one year that I would spend at my local Rite Aid. They have pretty good bargains and I can do that one stop shopping that makes life so much more convenient when you have 3 babies in diapers. I started by telling you things happen for a reason. When I opened the The Booster and read your column for the first time, I knew there was a reason I took 15 minutes out of my busy schedule. I also hope you're going to help me.

Mrs. F. W. ... The Booster, Columbus, OH

Dear Mrs. W.: Parents who have no intentions of raising their children have no right bringing them into the world. As harsh as that may sound, it is weak in comparison to what I really think about your daughter and son-in-law's cavalier lifestyle, which has left you holding the bag.

Well, hold on because I'm sending you $2,400 that I'm confident you will spend wisely at Rite Aid. The good bargains and a substantial inventory will be a Godsend for you and the triplets. And if their parents were serious about "serving the Lord" they would be spending their own money at Rite Aid and raising their children themselves. I do believe that is what the Lord intended.

Dear Percy: I'm so angry I could spit nails. Several weeks ago I gave my son $35 to do some last minute grocery shopping. On his way to the store he encountered gang members who not only stole the $35, they took his jacket and shoes. My son is only 11 years old! What is this world coming to?

I'm a single parent busting my rear to keep a roof over our heads and some punks come along and threaten his very being. Somewhere in this city are 4 boys, not much older than my son, with a stolen $35, expensive athletic shoes and jacket. Not to mention my son has been traumatized and is afraid to leave the apartment. The police were about as much help as a vial of water on a house fire. I realize this isn't your problem but I'm seeking restitution and retribution. I'm out $265, plus the $120 I've spent on counseling so far. I'm not saying $385 will right the problem, but it sure would be a start. Would you help us take that first step?

Ms. D. M. ... Thrifty Nickel, San Antonio, TX

Dear Ms. M.: The definition of victim: a sufferer from any destructive, injurious or adverse action.

Unfortunately, that describes both you and your son. So where do we go from here? Restitution is good, especially if it's made by the victimizers. Slid to no chance there because the gang members will probably never be caught. So allow me to make restitution with the $400 I'm sending. Now the hard part—put the nasty incident behind you and move on. To dwell on negative past history will only bring you and your son down and that's giving the victimizers far too much power over your lives. Good luck.

Romulus police duo are GREAT school grads...

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Two more Romulus Police Department officers -- Rose Cooper and Alan Lambert -- have graduated from the Gang Resistance Education and Training (GREAT) program.

The GREAT program was initiated by four Arizona police departments back in 1991 to show pre-teen students the consequences of gang involvement.

Beginning this fall, Cooper and Lambert will take this training to the seventh graders at Romulus Middle School.

This is part of the expanded joint programs planned this coming year by the Romulus Community Police and School District.

A DARE program for eighth graders at the Middle School also will be expanded.

The recent police classes were conducted at Eastern Michigan University and included officers from all over the U.S.

The anti-gang program was begun in Phoenix and its suburbs by policemen and a middle school principal with the support of members of the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms.

It later grew to include seven Phoenix school districts involving 4,000 students.

Feedback was then obtained from various middle school principals, teachers and students and the program was adjusted to better equip the students with information and resistance skills to cope with the constant pressures associated with street gangs.

The GREAT program seeks to help Middle School students set goals for themselves, resist pressures, learn how to resolve conflicts and understand how gangs can impact the quality of their lives.

The GREAT program locally is a nine-week program that culminates with a certificate of graduation, a new philosophical outlook concerning gang activities and provides tools for the students to resist gang pressures.

The GANG program has been operational in Romulus for several years.

The honeymoon will be at Caesar's Pocono Resorts in Pennsylvania.

Funds sought for ill Belleville boy, age five

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

A five-year-old Belleville boy, who was diagnosed on March 7 with Juvenile Chronic Myelocytic Leukemia, recently underwent a stem cell transplant thanks to his big brother, Jacob.

Kristopher Shelby Deets, son of Dean and Stephanie Deets, is now being treated at Michigan Mott's Children's Hospital and is reportedly making "excellent progress."

He will now have to remain in a sterile atmosphere for a year.

While the transplant costs were covered by the family's insurance, it is important that $20,000 be raised as quickly as possible for follow-up care.

Checks need to be made out to the NTA Stem Cell Transplant Fund with a memo at the bottom stating "in honor of Kristopher Deets."

The checks should be mailed locally to NTA c/o Bob Thorne, 47044 Denton Road, Belleville, MI. 48111.

Well wishers can send cards and letters to the Deets family at 23270 Martinsville Rd., Belleville, MI. 48111.

Charles Kalinsky of Westland has joined the Superior Coffee Co. of Bensonville, Ill. as a route sales representative.

Edward Ronzius Walker of Belleville has been named to the University of Missouri-Rolla's honor list.

Walker, who is studying engineering, is the son of Armeldia and Jimmy J. Mosley.

Xinlan Shi of Inkster has earned a master's degree in Materials, Science and Engineering at Worcester Polytechnic Institute of Worcester, MA.

Ann Arbor artist Angie Nagle Miller will soon be exhibiting her paintings of Egyptian and landscape subjects in the North Rhine-Westphalia area of Germany.

The first exhibition will be at Stadtgalerie Altena beginning 11 a.m. Aug. 7. It will continue through Aug. 29.

The second exhibit will be at the Galerie Emiliensplatz beginning 11 a.m. Sept. 5 in Hagen. That exhibit will continue through Sept. 26.

Nagle Miller is being hosted by German sculpturer Hans-Jurgen Hiby. She plans to return the favor for Hiby in 2001 in Michigan.

Canton resident Troy Smith was among those honored recently by Western Michigan University for outstanding academic achievement.

Smith also was a member of the team that took first place in the district and five place nationally in the Promotional Products Association Collegiate Competition. He also received a bachelor's degree in advertising and promotion in December.

Ann Meldrum of Romulus was one of the recent Michigan Lottery winners on June 30 in the "Sound Explosion" drawing second change sweepstakes.

Meldrum and others won audio and video equipment prizes.

Wayne business lends class to "Spirit of Detroit" statue

By CAROL MARSHALL
MCN Staff Writer

A Wayne business has made sure Detroit's famous statue, Spirit of Detroit, is dressed properly for "a formal affair."

Richard Nadeau, owner, A Formal Affair, 32449 Michigan Avenue, said it all started with a phone call from longtime friend and customer Mike Sbrocca, owner, President Tuxedo.

Sbrocca had been asked by Marci Schramm of the Detroit Opera House if he could supply an enormous tuxedo to dress the statue in celebration of the "3 Tenors" July 17 Tigers Stadium performance. Schramm wanted to welcome the tenors in a "big" way. Sbrocca immediately said yes to the project and funded the giant garment's creation. He contacted several national and local tuxedo manufacturers and finally decided that locally owned and operated A Formal Affair and Nadeau, who specializes in sewing custom tuxedos, were the right choice for the undertaking of such a project.

"I really didn't want to do it at first," said Nadeau. "But Mike seemed to have more faith in me than I did, so I agreed."

Little did Nadeau know at the time that he would have only one week to produce the garment. He and designer Natalie Lesinski, along with assistants Olinda Cirino and Sharon Spada, used the Detroit Redwings jersey that once clothed the statue as a pattern of sorts.

Nadeau asked the Wayne Community Center if he could use their facilities to lay out the jersey and create a pattern, and the four went to work. Three hours later, the pattern for the tuxedo was complete.

Sbrocca found a mill that could deliver the mass of black hockey jersey fabric—chosen for its ability to stand up to water and wind—quickly. The fabric arrived in Wayne on Friday, June 25, only four full days before the June 30 delivery deadline.

About 85 yards of fabric, and as many hours of labor, later, the garment was ready to be draped onto the statue and topped off with a 42-inch by 15-inch bow tie.

Nadeau said the tux had to be designed to go on the statue something like a poncho would. It's designed to drape, then is fastened with boat snaps. The studs (or buttons) on the huge white pleated shirt are six inches in diameter and two inches thick.

Nadeau says the Opera Theater has applied to Guinness

in hopes of breaking a world record for the largest tuxedo. And certainly, Nadeau and company put forth a record-breaking effort. But would he do it again? "In a minute, as long as I still had the staff I have now. This wouldn't have happened without them," he says.

Snappy facts about the tux

The Spirit of Detroit tuxedo contains:

- 74 yards of black jersey fabric
- 5 yards of black satin in studs and lapels
- 6 yards of white polycotton in the pleated shirt

It's dimensions are:

- 42 by 15 inches for the bow tie
- 171 inches, top to bottom of the shirt
- 180 inches wide
- The left sleeve is 150 inches long.
- The right sleeve is 101 inches long.

Westwood names Medlock as head football coach at Robichaud

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Mark Medlock, a former quarterback at Robichaud High School in the 1980s, who went on to play for Alabama State, was named Thursday night by the Westwood School District's board of education as the next head football coach at Robichaud.

Medlock will replace Robert Yauck Jr., who resigned after his inaugural year as coach. Medlock served as an assistant coach to Yauck and the Yauck's father, Robert Yauck Sr., whose 30 year coaching career at Robichaud produced some of the finest ball players in the nation including former University of Michigan running back Tyrone Wheatley, presently playing professionally in New York.

Francis McCauley, Robichaud High athletic director, said that Medlock has been on staff as an assistant coach and knows the program and the players.

"We had many inquiries about the position," McCauley continued, "and it came down to coach Medlock who has the credentials to do an excellent job. He is also an employee of the school district which is always an asset because when you're in the building you'll be seeing these kids every day.

"And that's what we were looking for - someone who can relate to the kids as well as have the coaching assets. He definitely will help the program."

Medlock was the Bulldogs' offensive coordinator, and he has a talent for bringing the best out of his players as well as the coaching staff, Mc-Cauley added.

Medlock, who is in his late 20ies, has also coached junior varsity softball, basketball and is on the security staff at the high school. Married and with two children, the Medlocks make their home in the city of Inkster.

Robichaud was a title contender in the Mega Conference, Gold Division a year ago, however, the Bulldogs got off on the wrong foot when they lost to Grosse Ile in their opener, and eventually lost out to Romulus, which won its first-ever football title with a perfect 9-0 record.

With less than six weeks left before opening day, the newly-appointed Robichaud head coach will have little time to rest and enjoy the summer. This may be one of Robichaud's toughest-ever seasons.

Moving on up

Romulus goes to the Blue Division

By TOM MOORADIAN

Winning championships has its rewards.

Romulus, which captured the Mega Conference, Gold Division football title a year ago with a perfect 9-0 record, is moving up a notch in the four-tier conference. (The Mega is divided into four divisions - Red, White, Blue and Gold Division.)

Coach Mark Woodson's Eagles will be competing in the Blue Division of the conference this fall.

"It will be a tougher division," said Woodson, who is in his fifth season as head coach at Romulus. "We are looking forward to the challenge."

But that challenge may be even tougher this year because the Eagles have lost four-year starter and All-State running back Freddie Russell to graduation.

Diamondbacks draw 1st blood in Series

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

The Diamondbacks were ready and waiting for the Blue Jays in the World Series opener of the Canton Girls' Prep Softball League.

Coming into the three-game series with a 10-3-1 record and the Western Division championship, the Diamondbacks scored a big 4-1 victory over the Blue Jays, the Eastern Division champs.

Lauren Delapaz continued to shine on the mound for the Diamondbacks as she tossed at four-hitter at the Jays, who averted the shutout with a six-their first-ever perfect regular season football record and to their second appearance ever in the state playoffs. Romulus was eliminated in the regional finals.

"We have an excellent group of kids coming back this year," added Woodson, who will open the 1999 campaign with a crossover game against Wayne Memorial.

The Romulus-Wayne game is scheduled for Aug. 27.

Wayne will again be coached by veteran Floyd Carter, who returned to the Zebras last year after nearly a 10-year hiatus from the Wayne Memorial football field. (He did coach track at the high school and also Crestwood's football team.)

Carter got off to an excellent 3-0 start a year ago, but a rash of injuries took its toll and the Zebras wound up in the second division of their conference.

Romulus and arch-rival, Gibraltar Carlson, and Melvindale, Trenton, Southgate Anderson, Taylor Kennedy have been assigned to the Blue Division in '99.

inning run.

Defense again played a key role in the Diamondbacks' victory.

Amanda Leon, Nora Neher and Natalie Maurer each drilled two hits and also were flawless on defense.

Catcher Laura Schorder also came through with a pair of runs batted in. Her excellent defensive play of a pop-up behind the plate which she played superbly ended a potential Blue Jay rally.

The two teams were scheduled to meet Tuesday afternoon in the second of a possible three-game series, and if the Jays salvaged that second game, the third and decisive contest, then will be played at 6:30 p.m. on Thursday on Field No. 1.

The Diamondbacks ran away with the Western Division title race, finishing four-games up on trio of teams that

Hillcrest rallies, silences the Guns for Romulus title

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

It went right down to the final inning and the final out at the 9th annual Romulus Stars and Stripes Tournament.

With each team sporting one loss, the championship match up between Hillcrest Country Club and the Young Guns had all of the excitement attached to a title match.

The bold and Young Guns jumped out to a lead, but Hillcrest managed to come back and in the final frame scored a run that broke a 15-all tie to win the tournament title, 16-15.

In other match-ups for third and fourth place, Welders Welding Supply turned back Walt Michael's R.V. Center to wind up in third place, while Superior Insulation and Secret Recipe each won one of their three games and settled for a two-way tie for fifth place.

Romulus Liquor and Thorn Apple Valley failed to find their way into the win column in their two games.

In the Romulus Monday/Wednesday Women's Division, Nik's Bar has turned the title race into a one-team affair. Nik's has an untarnished 17-0 record and a 17 game winning streak which puts them alone atop of the divisional standings.

There's a two-way tie between Sandtrap and Tapco for second place. Each had 10-7 record, while Renaissance Chiropractic/Romulus Auto Repair is seated fourth (8-8); Hi Way Auto is fifth (5-11) and

Romulus seeking softball teams

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

With their mid-summer holiday tournament out of the way, Romulus Parks and Recreation officials are turning their thoughts to late summer and fall softball league competition.

Officials announced this week that they are looking for teams to compete in various leagues, including a Monday/Wednesday Men's White Division that will include nine teams. Each will play 14 games. There is a $400 entry fee.

Also six teams are needed for a Tuesday Night Co-Ed

Recreation Division that will have a 10-game schedule. To get in on the action, team representatives will have to come up with $250.

To register for a Friday Men's White Division, a division where six teams are needed to complete the league, team managers will need $325 to play ball.

Finally, officials are looking for 10 teams to compete in the recreation department's Sunday Men's White Division. Teams will play nine games and the registration fee is $325.

Registration will begin on July 26 and close Aug. 20.

Deadline set for city golf tourney

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

If you're planning to play in the 1999 City Championship Golf Tournament you have until 5 p.m. on Friday, July 30, to get your entry to the Wayne Recreation Department.

The two-day, 36-hole championships will be played the weekend of Aug. 7-8 at the Woodlands of Van Buren, on Ecorse Road.

"We're giving the players an ample time to sign up, so we've set a cutoff date for registration," said Gary Clark, who is on the tournament's rules committee. "We need to have some kind of indication on how many are going to play in this year's championships, so that we can set up tee times. We will attempt to accommodate everyone."

The tournament, nearing its fourth decade, is open to amateur golfers living or working in the cities of Wayne, Westland, Canton Township, Inkster, and Garden City.

There are also flights for seniors and also for non-residents who will be assigned to the Open Flight.

Each city must be represented by at least six golfers or they will compete in the Open Flight.

The tournament is also based on the actual scores of the two days. And golfers will be placed into flights based on the first day's scores. The first three place finishers in each of the flights will receive trophies.

There is also a special trophy for the medalist (low scorer) of the tournament.

Wayne golfers also will be competing for the Leonard J. Anderson Memorial Trophy. This trophy is awarded to the overall winner (medalist) of the city of Wayne's Championship flight.

The trophy is awarded by the Wayne Police Department in memorial of Patrolman Anderson, who was fatally wounded in the line of duty in 1974 after responding to a domestic violence call.

The top five players in each of the championship flights may be eligible to compete in the state Parks and Recreation state tournament which is usually staged in September in Binder Park Golf Course.

In order to enter in this year's tournaments, players should send their name, address, telephone number - business or home, along with $70 for greens fees and trophy costs to the Wayne Parks and Recreation Department.

Please make checks payable to: City of Wayne. Mail entry and payment to: Wayne Parks and Recreation Department, 4635 Howe Road, Wayne, Mich. 48184.

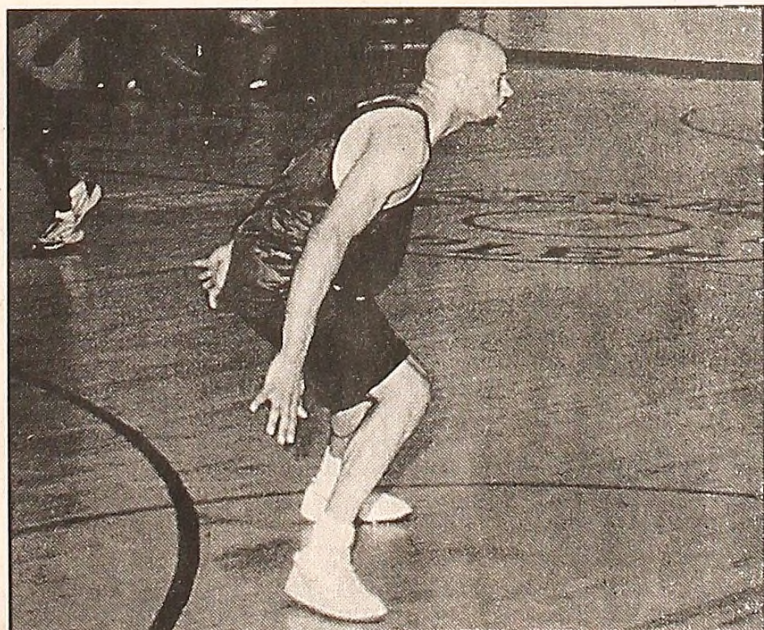

Players who need further information may contact Jeff Rutter, assistant parks and recreation department at 734/721-7400 or Michigan Community Newspapers' Staff Writer Tom Mooradian at 734/729-4000.

Legends to hold hoop camp

Some of the legends of basketball will be coming home next month to help stage the second annual Inkster Legends Basketball Camp.

Among the notables who will offer their hoop expertise to the youngsters include Fred Smiley, former prep All-American who also became a collegiate All-American at Northwood Institute in Midland; Eartha Faust, who after earning All-State honors at Inkster High went on to star at West Virginia; Victor Diehl, who, played professionally in Europe, and Duane Fox, who, after leaving Inkster as an All-Stater, went on to play

"We have some others who will be helping stage the camp," said Smiley, who pointed out that about 250 youngsters participated in the inaugural workshop a year ago. "Because of inter-

Romulus Middle School has perfect track record

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

If Romulus High track & field opponents have any thoughts or plans on their minds about avenging their losses to the Eagles in the nearest future, they better think again.

Not only did the Eagles' varsity squad post a perfect 9-0 and finish second in Division II in the state of Michigan, the Romulus Middle School team followed in the footsteps as they also compiled a 9-0 record during the recent campaign.

"These kids are great," said coach Mark Woodson, who apparently has a knack for producing outstanding teams and talent. (Woodson's varsity football team also had a 9-0 record a year ago.)

In the race for the Mega Conference (Middle School) title, Romulus ran up against another traditionally strong track team in Belleville South and managed to win a close 60-53 decision.

At the Mega Conference championship, Ron Ford had a superb day, winning three gold medals, while teammate Jamal Wallace picked up a pair of golds and a bronze.

Romulus's Tylon Pitts also came away with two golds.

During the dual meet season, a young athlete by the name of Christopher Middlebrook managed to erase Fred Russell's record in the 70-meter dash when he crossed the finish line in the winning time of 7.8.

Russell, the best running back in the history of the high school and also a gold-medalist in the 200 at the state finals this season, owned the previous middle school record at 7.9.

Wallace also established a new best for the 400-meters when he ran a 54 seconds in the event, eclipsing the previous best of 55 seconds.

Woodson praised the team and his assistant, John Moomau, who, he said, has helped write the success story in track at Romulus.

Anderson tourney champ goes for 3rd straight title

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

They may have changed their names from Prestige to Calvert's, but the defending Leonard J. Anderson Invitational Tournament champ has the same goal on their minds when they take to the field on Friday for the 23rd annual tournament, and that goal is to repeat as champs.

But this time Calvert's, which is going for an elusive tripeat will have to fight tradition as well as their opponents.

"No team," explains Larry Quartuccio, tournament director, "has ever won three of these tournaments in the row. We have had teams that have won back-to-back titles, but never three."

"I don't want to call it a jinx, but that's a fact."

Quartuccio admits that Calvert's, made up of the players who won the 1997 and 1998 titles, is the favorite to win. Any other team that covets the championship will have to get by them, says Quartuccio.

"They're tough. Definitely will be the team to beat in this tournament."

If there is a team that can unseat the present champ it may be the one managed by Quartuccio, whose four-sponsored club, Journeyman/

Varsity, Ques/Easton has been ranked No. 1 nationally this year.

But there are at least two others - Zada and Plumbers/Pipefitters that may have the talent and the power to break loose and stop Calvert's unprecedented string.

The three-day tournament begins with a pair of games Friday (July 16) and will end with the championship showdown on Sunday on the Anderson softball diamonds.

The diamonds are located on Howe and Annapolis Roads, adjacent to the Wayne Recreation Complex.

Admission is free, and special programs, also free, are available at the Community Center.

During ceremonies at 9 p.m. July 17, candidates for the Hall of Fame will be inducted. There will also be a Home Run Derby, and Quartuccio notes "that you do not have to be a player in the tournament to enter the derby."

Westland artist, 7, is a NFL champ

The NFL has found a champ in a seven-year-old Westland artist.

The contest ran from August through late October 1998. More than 3,000 contestants submitted entries to one of three age groups (age range 5-to-8, 9-to-14 and 15-and-over).

Rules of the contest provided a format of free of restrictive guidelines. Their mission was to draw, sketch, paint or otherwise create their version of a collector's Upper Deck NFL MVP Football trading card featuring their favorite player.

Entries were based on creativity, overall presentation and athlete likeness.

"My husband is a collector and my daughter loves to draw. She is constantly drawing everything around here, especially John Elway who is her favorite player. She is something else," said Karen Butkowski, Ashley's mother.

tunity to learn, improve on basic basketball skills, such as, shooting, ball-handling, rebounding and defense. The two-day camp is scheduled for Aug. 6 and Aug. 7th and ages eight to 11 will begin their drills at 8 a.m., while players 12 to 15 will report at noon. Smiley stressed that all participants must fill out a registration form which includes an indemnity agreement which holds the coaches and organizers harmless in case of an injury to the participant. Forms may be picked up at the Recreation Complex, located on Middlebelt Road, just north of Michigan Ave., at BankOne, the Inkster Branch on Michigan Avenue, the Comerica Bank, at Inkster Road and Cherry Hill and the Demy Center - Lemoyne Gardens. Participants also will be treated to a free lunch. There will also be free T-shirts for all participants, and trophies will be awarded to those who complete their assignments. For those who need more information about the camp, please contact Fred Smiley.

Teams

There will be a managerial meeting on Aug. 15, while competition will begin for the Sunday League on Aug. 19; Tuesday Co-Ed Division, on Sept. 7; the Monday/Wednesday Division on Sept. 8 and the Friday Division, on Sept. 10. City officials also explained that the White Division teams are of Class C and Cladd D caliber. For further information about these leagues or any other parks and recreation department program please contact the Romulus Recreation Department by dialing 942-6852.

were tied. The three are: the Athletics, Cardinals and the Devil Rays who each finished with 5-9 records. The Braves were the door-mats of the CCJSA League. They wound up 3-11. In the meantime, the Jays got to the Series winning some big games and with only a half-game edge over the White Sox. The Sox won 10 of their 14 games, but finished in a tie that cost them first-place. The Phillies were the third-best team in the league. They were 10-4, while the Marlins (9-5) and the Tigers (1-13) rounded out the Eastern Division standings.

Inkster sets dates for open tennis tournament

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

The dates for the popular Inkster Parks and Recreation Department's Open Tennis Tournament have been set. The tournament, in its 21st year, has attracted more than 100 amateur tennis players to the Inkster tennis courts in the past to compete in a wide number of divisions. The tournament, open to residents and non-residents, will be staged on Aug. 20-22 on the courts located adjacent to the Booker T. Dozier Recreation Complex, 2025 Middlebelt Road, about a quarter-mile north of Michigan Avenue. "As in the past, this tournament has something for everyone and is one of our most popular open tournaments," noted Ron Wolkowicz, parks and recreation director. "There is a deadline to submit entry forms to us." That deadline is 5 p.m. Wed., Aug. 18. Divided into youth and adult divisions, as well as singles and doubles competition, the tournament is broken down into several categories: Youth singles, 17 and under $5 per person entry fee; Youth singles, 14 and under, $5; Youth Open Doubles, $10 per person.

Geraldine Calhoun (at left) and Leroy Jenkins (third, from left) are presented "Certificates of Appreciation" by Wayne County Commissioner Kay Beard, and State Representative Thomas Kelly at the recent Golden Age Reception. The reception is sponsored by the Senior Citizen's Committee of Top Ladies Of Distinction Inc., Michigan Metro Chapter. The honorees also received "The Lady Earnestine V. Steel Outstanding Senior Volunteer Award" named in honor of the late Lady Earnestine V. Steel, a dedicated member of TLOD, who served as the Senior Citizen's Committee Chairlady for many years. Outstanding volunteers step into the limelight

By THEOLA JONES
MCN Special Writer

The Holy Scriptures are replete with references to kind deeds, charity, and love.

In 1 Corinthians 13th, chapter, and the 4th. verse: Charity suffereth long, and is kind, charity envieth not, charity vaunteth not itself, is not puffed.

You will find in Hebrews 12th. chapter, and the 13th verse, the following reference to love: Let brotherly love continue.

The Senior Citizen's Committee of Top Ladies Of Distinction Inc., Michigan Metro Chapter, recently honored two Inkster residents who are excellent examples of "brotherly love", "kindness", and "charity".

Geraldine Calhoun and Leroy Jenkins were recipients of "The Lady Earnestine V. Steel Outstanding Senior Volunteer Award", given at the Annual Golden Age Reception, held recently at the Booker T. Dozier Recreation Complex.

The award is named in honor of the late Lady Earnestine V. Steele, who was a dedicated member of TLOD. She chaired the Senior Citizen's Committee for several years.

Geraldine Calhoun has shared her time, and talents with others, all of her adult life. Sharing. Caring. Serving. Giving. She began her volunteer service working with the Ruth Alden Project, dressing dolls for the Detroit Goodfellows.

Other diverse volunteer activities include working with the Parent/Teacher's Association of the McNair Schools; Inkster Recreation After-School Program; Inkster Drug Abuse Commission; Inkster Police Auxiliary; American Red Cross; Retired Senior Volunteer Program; Foster Grandparents Advisory Council and Arts and Crafts Instructor for Thompson Towers. She is a member of People's Community Baptist Church in Westland, pastored by the Rev. John Hern.

Leroy Jenkins, Ford Retiree, Naval Serviceman, and Navy Reserveman, has devoted his life to rendering volunteer service. He and his wife Ocie are the parents of five children and 12 grandchildren.

For the past 16 years, Jenkins has served as the coordinator of the food distribution program for St. Clement Episcopal Church. The program serves the City of Inkster and bordering communities.

He spearheaded the "Thanksgiving Dinner Project" that is hosted annually for the residents of St. Clement Manor, a housing facility for 40 handicapped residents.

The awardee was the coordinator of the Mayor's Hot Meals Assistance Program for the City of Inkster; he served with FEMA (Federal Emergency Management Assistance); Operation Get-Down and Focus Hope.

The recipient of many awards, Jenkins exemplifies a true unselfish humanitarian.

Lady Janet Carter is the President of Top Ladies of Distinction, and Lady Theola Jones serves as the Chairlady of the Senior Citizen's Committee. TLOD is a service organization focused on Top Teens, Senior Citizens, Status of Women, City Beautification, and Community Partnerships.

Our scholars Resident receives U of M honor

By MAUDE REID
MCN Special Writer

Marieta Edje of Inkster, a student at the University of Michigan - Ann Arbor, accepted membership in The National Society of Collegiate Scholars and will be honored this fall at the university.

Founded in 1994, The National Society is a highly-selective, national, non-profit honors organization that recognizes first and second year undergraduate students who excel academically.

Marieta has completed her first year in college.

The society was established on the principle that with scholarship comes responsibility to develop leadership and a duty to perform service.

According to Steve Loflin, executive director, Marieta will have an opportunity to join high achieving college students in developing leadership skills.

Marieta is the daughter of Louise Edje and the granddaughter of Catherine Jordan of Inkster.

Congratulations also are in order for Shanesse Hicks, 7, who maintained a 4-point average in her subjects all the year and was on the principal's list of honorees. Her proud father is Sean Hicks.

And continued happiness to George and Leanna Hicks who celebrated 63 years of marriage on July 3 and dined at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in Dearborn.

All during the dinner they were serenaded by a group of women dressed alike and known as The Missing Moments and the couple was presented a cake with compliments of the Hyatt Regency Hotel.

Praise came recently to Rev. Dr. Oscar Carter, pastor of Inkster Springhill Missionary Baptist Church.

At the recent National Baptist Congress of Christian Education, he was an instructor in the second year division of a class of Advanced Leadership Division.

In his class were Dr. Jonathan McPherson, pastor of a church in Birmingham, Al.

Classic cars show their muscles at Burger Car Show

Kids won at Burger Car Show

By DON NICHOLSON
MCN Special Writer

With all the preparations in place, the Burger Car show was finally here.

Cars were already showing up at 4:00 pm for the 7th Annual show. The dunk tank was in place and the Gold Tones were getting set up to play.

The Ann Arbor Magic Club was already entertaining the kids with tricks and the clowns making balloons.

If it sounds like the show was getting exciting it was.

We ended up with 132 cars, and with the help of Racer Vince Porcelli and with the staff at Ideal Steel selling 258 show T-shirts, we managed to raise $5,600.00 and some change after all the expenses are paid.

This is one of the few shows done completely with volunteers, and completely paid for by sponsors. Few shows can say that.

Although all the vehicles were winners, the spectators picked John Zebrowski from Garden City for first place in "Doorslammer" competition.

Stevie Daytook was runner up and Tom Conian was third.

In Open Wheel, first place went to Art Ames of Westland. Runner up was Mike Meyer and third place was Mike Beebe.

Mike was also the winner of the "Eddie's choice award."

In the stock class, first place went to Vince Porcelli from Hamburg, runner up went to Michael Moore and third place went to Sheldon Chandler.

John Kleibowicz won first place in custom from Westland while Larry Mlynarek took runner up and Jerry Pawlowski took home a very tight third.

In the truck /van category Doug Snyder won first place from Dearborn Heights, Al Fox was runner up and Kevin Bauser took home a well deserved third.

Last but not least, the motorcycle class winner was Rick Pidsosny from Canton with Don Frasek taking home second place and believe it or not accepting third place for "Grumpy" was his son Harley.

The overall "Best of Show Winner" was John Zebrowski from Garden City, with a very nice 1988 Chevy SS Monte Drag car.

But the biggest winner's are the kids at Burger School and all the people that helped make it a great evening.

The next very special car show coming up is the 6th Annual Benefit Car Show for the Mott Children's Hospital. This show is also presented by the Street Rod City Cruisers. For more information, please call 734-428-7205.

Coming up July 25th at Milan Dragway is the VW Bug Out. Even if you are not into Volkswagens, this is a must see event. Some of the fastest four cylinders around and cars that travel from as far away as California. Also, a Miss and Mister Bug Out contest.

Next week I will be cruising in Eastern Ontario Canada and reporting from Ottawa Canada. Please let me know of any great cruise, car show or racing info via e-mail at PrismPhoto@AOL.com.

A crowd of 100,000+, above, throngs downtown Plymouth's streets and sidewalks some downed homebrew, right.

Cool art draws 100,000 to Plymouth

By IVAN HELFMAN
MCN Staff Writer

The sun was hot but the art was cool so over 100,000 people walked downtown Plymouth's streets and sidewalks to see Art in the Park last weekend.

The pictures, jewelry, sculptures, ceramics, and T-shirts of more than 400 artists were displayed, with artists and artisans' cash registers ringing.

The fair goes back 19 years to when Dianne Quinn organized a small art show in Kellogg park. The quaint shops and small town appeal provided a natural backdrop for the event.

The first show displayed the work of 30 artists. Now, rated in the top 200 art shows in the country, it almost rivals the Ann Arbor Art Fair in variety and quality. "Fine art to crafts - all of our artists bring high quality work," said Raychel Quinn co-director and daughter of Dianne Quinn.

Growing up with Art in the Park, Raychel has seen first hand what it takes to produce a quality art show. Working side by side with her mother, they both agree that the success of the show is a result of careful planning and a lot of support.

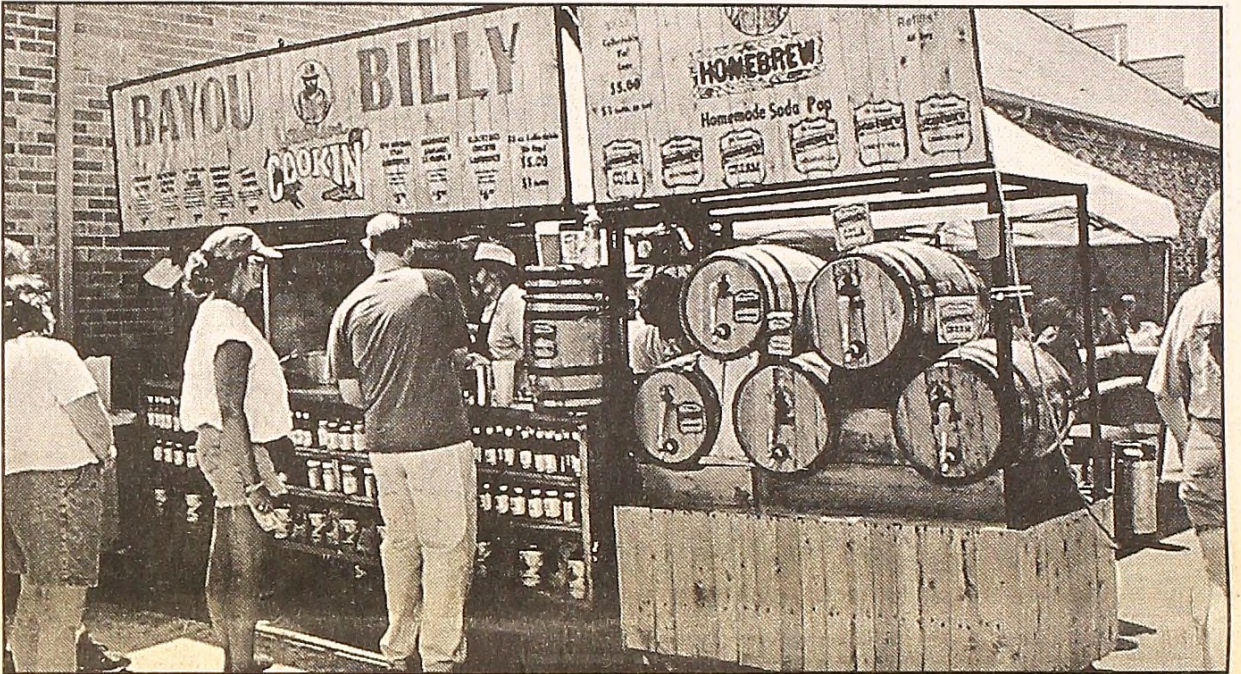

"People like coming here because they can talk to us. Art in the Park is more manageable than other fairs," says Raychel Quinn. "You can get around and visit all the booths."

In addition to offering show-goers plenty of art options, Art in the Park provides a varied selection of dining possibilities throughout the entire show.

Children of all ages are encouraged to stretch their creative limits with hands on activities by the fountain.

Take an extended stroll through the downtown streets of Plymouth and you will agree, Plymouth is the perfect location for an art show.

'Big Daddy' Sandler

By SYBLE MARR
MCN Movie Writer

I can never remember a time where I did not watch Saturday Night Live. Whether it had been when I was young child watching the first crew (Belushi, Martin, Chase, Radner, etc.), the followers (Murphy, Carvey, Lovitz, etc.) or even the new cast (Farley, Oteri, Meyers, etc.) I have always loved watching their skits.

One of my favorites though has been Adam Sandler. I know many of the parents despise him for the loud goof that he is. I know many other movie critics get down right rude about his acting ability, but I am not one to follow in those foot steps.

No matter what movie he makes I am drawn to him. I can not miss anything he does. I agree he, in the past, has not been the most gifted in acting skills. Yet with his recent release Big Daddy I believe he is coming around.

Sandler plays Sonny Koufax, a law school grad that reached the end of his rope one day and decided that he did not want to pursue a law career. He now only works once a week as a toll house attendant, after a small vehicle accident.

He has a beautiful girlfriend, played by the original Buffy the Vampire Slayer Kristy Swanson. She is now over the fact that they both are out of college and now wants to move on in the adult world of reality, but he wants to play in the schoolyard awhile longer.

After an argument she gives him an ultimatum. Either grow up or lose me. She leaves for a week and he has a decision to make. Then there is a knock at the door.

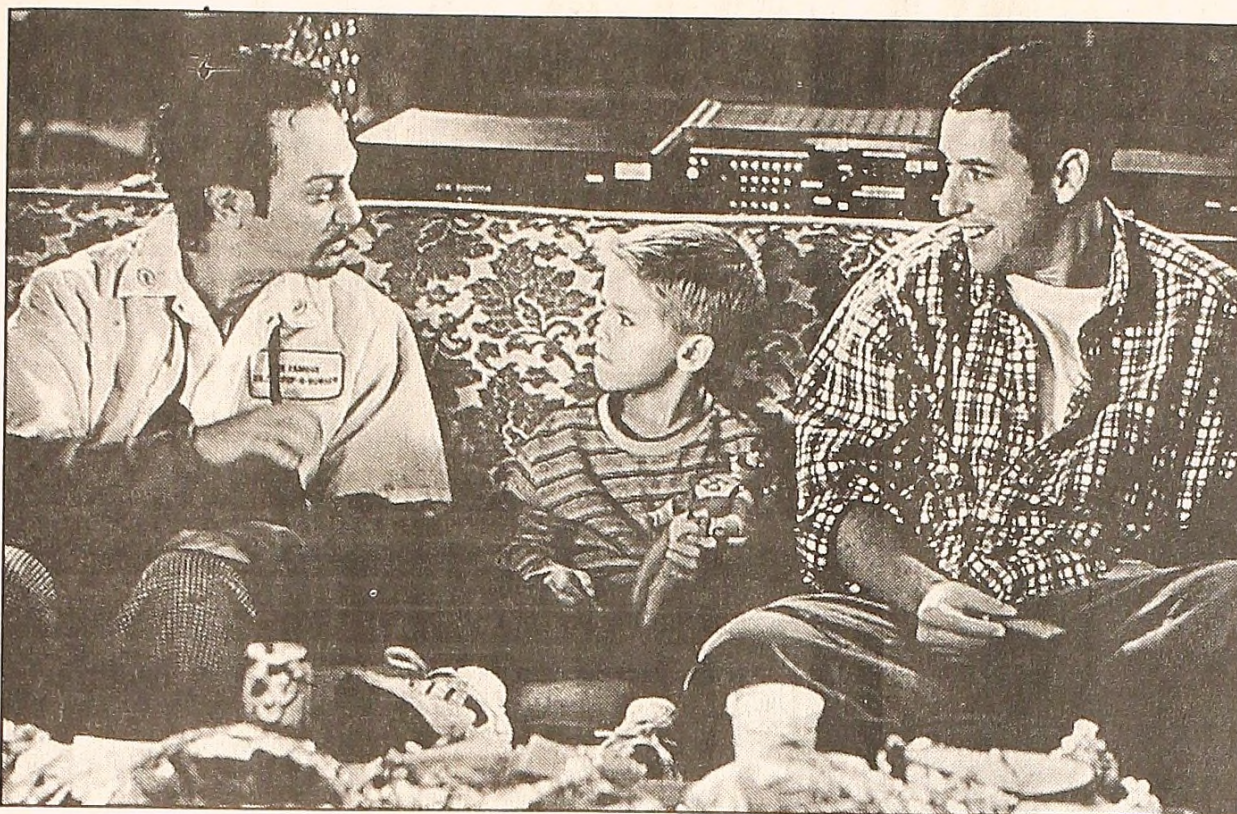

A young boy named Julian, played by twins Cole and Dylan Sprouse, is dropped off on his stoop with a letter attached. He is the son of Sandler's roommate Kevin, played by Jon Stewart. Only there is a small problem. Kevin is on his way to work in China.

Sandler decides this is the perfect way to keep his girlfriend with him. She'll fall in love with the kid and viola, the problem is solved. Wrong. His wonderful girlfriend comes into town and drops the bomb on him. She is seeing a new guy, an older guy, a very much older guy.

Sandler decides, however, that he will keep the kid for awhile or at least until Social Services decides what they are going to do with him.

Now instead of a girlfriend he has something better, a little kid he can teach everything to. Everything he finds cool and entertaining. He takes him to the park and teaches him how to trip roller bladers as they descend down a steep hill towards the lake in Central Park. He takes him to the bar to watch the Jets play ball. He even teaches him how to urinate on a public building. What a dad, huh.

Then he enrolls him into school, that's when he really proves that he can be a real dad. He helps with the homework, he teaches him how to urinate in urinals rather than on trees or buildings. He helps the poor kid grow and in turn grows quite a bit himself.

This movie is quite fun. You are laughing one minute then remembering how it was learning the tricks of the world while you were growing up the next minute.

The catch to this movie though is there are going to be younger kids that are going to focus more on the urinating and the gross remarks then actually enjoying the movie. A suggestion for parent with small children would be to either go to see it first or wait a year to watch it on home video. A plus though for parents, there is no nudity in this movie. A great accomplishment for a movie in this day and age.

Sandler brings out the best in father figures, the goofs that act like children with their children, and helps us see how we need to help our child grow while we grow not force the child to grow up too quickly.

This movie is one of the best comedies this summer. You have to see this one if you are or even if you are not an Adam Sandler fan. No matter what you will either leave the theater laughing or crying, either way Sandler will have one more fan to add to the list.

Sonny (Adam Sandler) finds love at the laundromat with Layla (Joey Lauren Adams), a dedicated environmental lawyer

Senior couple's eyesight 'key' to convictions

The sharp eyesight of a senior citizen couple from Dearborn Heights recently was the key element in convicting a former Inkster police officer of armed robbery, home invasion and a felony firearm charge.

The ex-policeman, Robert E. Forensic, was charged with pressing his way into the couple's home two years ago at gun point shortly after high noon and robbing $2,800 in cash, a prized coin collection and other items.

Despite the rude treatment police said he inflicted on the retired pair, they separately were able to pick Forensic "immediately" out of a live line-up at police headquarters.

Within several hours after testimony ended, the 12-member jury announced they found the former officer guilty on all four counts and he now awaits sentencing before Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Vera Massey Jones.

Another key element of the sharp eyes of the couple was the close likeness they prepared with a Dearborn police sketch artist of the suspect -- before he was arrested.

That sketch helped Dearborn Heights detectives identify Forensic and heavily led to his arrest and conviction.

While the couple never got their valuables back...they do have the satisfaction of knowing one of their two assailants will spend considerable time behind bars.

In addition, it runs counter to so many of the classic "jury movies" in which they later prove that the "older" person's limited eyesight led to a false identification.

Forensic apparently made his "invasion" at the wrong time of day -- shortly after noon, giving the victim a perfect series of views of his face and hair style.

Picnic slated Aug. 20

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

The seventh annual September Days Senior Center Country Jamboree Picnic is slated from 3 to 10 p.m. Aug. 20 at the Van Buren Township Hall Community Center.

New treatments set to aid insect sting 'allergy' problems

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Senior citizens and area campers should be aware that new guidelines have been set for insect sting allergy treatments.

Insect sting allergies are a potentially life-threatening medical condition that effects over 2 million Americans every summer.

The standardized protocol published in the Journal of Allergy and Clinical Immunology offers the following recommendations:

•Patients with an alarming reaction to insect stings definitely should consult their doctors. If it is decided that problem is allergic in nature (affecting areas of the body other than the sting area), patient should be educated in avoiding insect stings, provided with a self-injectable epinephrine device and should be referred to an allergist for further evaluation.

•Allergist must decide if patient is a candidate for venom immunotherapy, a vaccination program that prevents future allergic reactions in sting-sensitive persons 97% of the time.

•If that is the case then a certain diagnostic series of skin tests need to be performed.

•If tests are positive, immunotherapy should be recommended, but patient must be informed of potential risks and benefits of this procedure.

Jews for Jesus founder slated at Canton church

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Moishe Rosen, founder of the Jews for Jesus evangelistic agency, will be speaking at Calvary Baptist Church of Canton at 11 a.m. Aug. 8.

Back in the 1960's Rosen created the system of humorous "broad-sides" that are now illustrated pamphlets that make a statement about Jesus as the Jewish Messiah.

Approximately three million of these broadsides are printed every year.

Rosen's subject matter ranges from current movies to seasonal celebrations or even popular product use...such as home computers.

He once wrote a "broad-side" to be passed out at an Atheists' Convention in San Francisco that stated "...I know most atheists aren't looking for God. An atheist who is looking for God is like a hooky player looking for a truant officer."

Rosen also was the first executive director of Jews for Jesus. The evangelistic group has seven permanent branches in North America namely in San Francisco, Los Angeles, Chicago, New York City, Washington, D.C., and Fort Lauderdale, as well as Toronto, Canada.

It also has 70 chapters in 30 states and international branches overseas.

In his talks, Rosen stresses that being Jewish and believing in Jesus Christ go hand in hand.

"As Jews, we've found it necessary to express our faith in Y'shua (Hebrew for Jesus) in ways that are natural to us as Jews," Rosen said.

"Our message is no different than that of the rest of evangelical Christianity; it's just that it reflects our culture and heritage as Jews," he adds.

"We write our own songs and drama with the hope that our fellow Jews will want to know why and how we can be Christians and yet maintain our Jewish identity," Rosen said.

"Our message is not new, but we're telling it in a new way. For too long the Jewish roots of Christianity have been forgotten," Rosen explains.

"Jesus was born in Israel not Greece or Rome. His mother's name was Miryam, not Mary and his name was Y'shua -- that is the Jewish way to say Jesus," Rosen concluded.

Senior Pastor Roland F. DeRenzo revealed the public is invited to the 11 a.m. service at Calvary Baptist Church at 43065 Joy Road in Canton.

Staffer looks for a few good drivers

By CAROL MARSHALL
MCN Staff Writer

Need a job? A good job? How about something full-time, for an international company, with a competitive salary and all the benefits, bells and whistles to go with it. That's exactly what Barbara Cumming, owner, Express Personnel Services, is offering.

Cumming is looking for drivers with a CDL-B license. According to the Secretary of State office, the process of earning one can be fairly simple. First, interested drivers should pick up a booklet about the CDL-B and chauffeur's licensing at the Secretary of State office. Then study, study, study. Return to the office to take your written test.

If you pass, you'll be issued a CDL-B temporary permit and chauffeur's license, at a cost of $41. You will also be given a list of road test professionals, so you may call to schedule your road test. Upon passing that, take the permit and paperwork from your road tester back to the Secretary of State and for a fee of $7, you'll have your credentials added to your license.

Then you're ready to head to Express Personnel Services and apply for a job—and Cumming has plenty of openings. "This is a terrific opportunity. It's permanent, full-time, with all the benefits, bells and whistles," she says. Further, all she really needs from prospective employees is the license, and a drug test. Even inexperienced drivers are welcome to apply.

Other opportunities also abound at Express Personnel Services. Between the Cumming's two offices in Wayne and Farmington Hills, she works with businesses in Ypsilanti, Belleville, Wayne, Westland, Romulus, Taylor, Northville, Plymouth, Canto, Farmington Hills, Novi, Southfield and Livonia. And they're all desperately seeking qualified staff to work for them.

She describes herself as a "matchmaker," bringing together good people seeking work and good customers—the businesses who are seeking workers.

"If you're going to do the Barbara Cumming and her top-notch staff at Express Personnel warmly welcome job seekers at nearly every experience level.

You have to do everything you can to treat your staff well, invest in them, train and develop them.

- Barbara Cumming

work right, it's important to find the best of what's available on both sides," Cumming says. To meet that end, she recruits employees and administers written tests to assess their skills, as well as drug screening tests. She offers computer training software to associates to assist them in strengthening their skills.

To protect the best interests of her associates, she visits her customers to ensure they are offering a work place that's safe and that her associates will be treated well.

She explains that she's learned from experience that a happy, qualified staff—hers or any one of her customers'—can make or break a business. "I'm no different than anyone else. You have to do everything you can to treat your staff well, invest in them, train and develop them," she says. She listens closely to her associates to help them find the perfect professional fit, while they are afforded the security of being an employee of Express Personnel while they are given the opportunity to try on many professional hats, gaining experience and insight at each placement.

Cumming places employees in a variety of fields, including permanent workers, and technical and industrial workers, but the bulk of her placements are temporary, or "temp to permanent" positions in light industrial and clerical fields. She's looking for people who have worked in any sort of warehouse or have factory experience, hi-lo driving or welding capabilities. Clerical workers would ideally have some very basic computer skills, whether that includes simple data entry or WordPerfect, or Micro Soft Office.

She welcomes people who cannot boast long resumes, and invites prospective employees to take advantage of the company's software training, as well as the associate scholarship program. For more information, call Express Personnel at (734) 467-5450, or visit the office at 3927 Fourth St. in Wayne, just south of the Arby's on east-bound Michigan Ave.

New Technology Puts King Academy on the Cutting Edge!

Classrooms at King Academy will have a new look for the coming 1999-2000 school year!

Over the summer, electricians, cabling specialists and a network administrator are working together to prepare the building for new equipment. This includes each classroom with at least six computers, a TV/monitor, a computer-linked overhead projector, a laser printer and an electronic pen tablet. A PBX telephone system with homework hotline is also a part of the package. The project, which includes ongoing professional development by Eastern University, is expected to be completed by September, 1999.

All of this is possible due to the award of a $200,000 grant under the Technology Literacy Challenge Fund. King Academy is one of only 68 school districts (out of 289) to receive an award.

The technology project is being directed by Mr. Michael Tindall, Director of Math, Science and Technology at King Academy.

Garden City Hospital lab gets accredited

Garden City Hospital has recently earned accreditation from the American Osteopath Association (AOA) Healthcare Facilities Accreditation Program (HFAP). Accreditation by HFAP demonstrates that a health care facility has met the standards set forth by HFAP to provide high quality care and compliance with governmental regulations.

HFAP, recognized nationally by the federal government, state governments, insurance carriers and managed care organizations, has been accrediting health care facilities for more than 50 years. Dedicated to maintaining the highest standards of patient care, HFAP is one of only two national voluntary accreditation programs with "Deeming Authority" from the Health Care Financing Administration of the federal government to accredit hospitals and their clinical laboratories.

"Garden City Hospital should be recognized for its commitment to providing quality care to its community," says George A. Reuther, AOA Director of the Division of Healthcare Facilities Accreditation. "Accreditation is an important achievement for a laboratory and one that Garden City Hospital should be proud of."

Garden City Hospital received accreditation after surveyors measured the facility against a benchmark of hundreds of recognized standards relating to each area and function of the facility.

"We are pleased to have earned accreditation from HFAP," adds Gary Ley, President and CEO. "Our facility seeks voluntary accreditation because we are committed to providing our patients with the highest quality of care."

Bennett's bill seeks to ease student loans

College students would get a break on their taxes, if a bill introduced by state Senator Loren Bennett becomes a law.

Bennett's proposal allows students to deduct interest payments on their student loans from state taxes.

"College students who are struggling to pay the costs of their education shouldn't be squeezed by the tax collector," said Bennett (R-Canton Township), chairman of the Senate Committee on Education.

"By taking out a student loan, young people are making an investment in their future. My legislation will make that investment a little easier."

Senate bill 483 has been referred to the Senate Finance Committee for further consideration.

Incurables Europe bound

Detroit's raw-driven modern rock group, The Incurables are now involved in their first European Tour this summer. In support of their latest release entitled, "Sex Cells" the group kicked off their tour on June 12th in Munich, Germany with fellow Detroit Rockers, 60 Second Crush.

The new 10 song release, "Sex Cells" reveals some of the groups finest works yet. With a penchant for tuneful, clever songwriting, and infectious hook filled harmony, The Incurables pride themselves on their up bet performances, silly lyrics, and their somewhat twisted sense of humor. They are sure to break new grounds on their European tour.

How to find lost pets

Effective immediately Dearborn Heights Animal Control will no longer be bringing stray animals to the Michigan Humane Society shelter in Westland. Under a new contract with the City of Taylor Animal Shelter on Northline Road. Individuals finding homeless or injured animals should bring them to the Taylor Shelter. The three local Michigan Humane Society shelters also take in any animal in need to those searching for a lost pet should contact both city or county Animal Control divisions and local humane societies in surrounding areas daily.

The Michigan Humane Society offers the following suggestions to help prevent losing your pet or find a lost pet:

Always keep current identification on your pet; even indoor cats may slip out and proper ID is critical to your pet being returned.

Post flyers in the area your pet was last seen with his name, breed, size, eye color, fur length, special markings and gender. Be sure to include your phone number.

Keep a clear and recent photo of your pet with you.

Notify neighbors, mail and newspaper carriers, neighborhood kids, or others working in the area that your pet is missing.

Many local newspapers will run lost pet ads at no cost. Place an ad with your pet's description and where he was last seen.

Place food and wather outside your door and something that your pet is familiar with such as a toy or blanket.
